THE BREAKDOWN

Grassroots Grocery teams up with local vendors...

community gardens, farmers, food purveyors and crafters...

increasing the volume of access to locally-produced food and products. One benefit of buying in bulk through a cooperative is that the cost per unit is significantly reduced, making it affordable to households with diverse income levels.

MISSION & VISION

Mission

We are a growing, effective cooperative grocery rooted in Alton, Illinois, that provides healthy and organically grown food, strengthens the network of local farmers, engages our diverse community in improving health and self-sufficiency, and contributes to a sustainable local economy.

Vision

Our goal is to establish a resource for healthy food and locally made food products, focused on produce grown within a 50-mile radius, whenever possible. We will involve the community through education, outreach, and networking opportunities that contribute to the restoration of local, sustainable agriculture in the Alton area. Our vision is to transform our neighborhood, a USDA-designated "food desert" with limited access to transportation, into a home for accessible, affordable, healthy food.

HOW YOU HELP

Make us your first stop when you grocery shop.

If shoppers would commit to spending just $25 of their weekly grocery budget at Grassroots Grocery, it would make a big difference to this local, non-profit, food cooperative grocery store that gives back to the community and supports the local economy.
